THE CHRONICLE

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 28, 1870.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Court will probably adjourn Friday. The mercury boiled at 90° in the shade, last Sunday. Hay harvest will commence next week, if the weather permits. The Park has been moved and looks much improved in appearance. Thirty-five new, advance-paying subscribers to the CHRONICLE this week. Grasshoppers are reported multitudinous and voracious in some sections of this county. A trial of moving machines will be had on the farm of Mr. H. J. Harsh, near this city, on Saturday next. The little "busy bee" can "live in clover" this season. The honey yielding white clover is remarkably abundant. The graduating exercises of the Warren High School will take place at Webb's Hall to-morrow evening, commencing at 7 o'clock. Wood's Theatrical Company advertise, in another column, to visit Warren, for four nights, commencing next Saturday evening. Our thanks are due Mrs. Jno. Allen, of Kinsman, for a large bouquet of the finest assortment of flowers we have seen this season. On the 15th inst., Mr. R. L. Walker, of Liberty, put his Kentucky steers on the scales and they weighed 2,700 lbs., an aggregate gain of 150 lbs. in the month. The property and effects of Langley & Waldorf, of Johnston, except the notes and book accounts, will be sold at private sale by Geo. F. Hunter, the Assignee, on the 21st proximo. Two prisoners from Trumbull County, charged with burglary, were lodged in jail at Warren, on Wednesday evening last. The old jail in Warren being insecure. -Zane's Democrat. The ladies of the M. E. Church, at Bristol, will give a Strawberry Festival Friday evening next, June 24th, at the residence of Mr. Willard Case, in the interest of the Sunday School. An invitation is extended to all. By a call published elsewhere, it will be seen that a Republican Senatorial District Convention is to be held at Niles, July 7, to nominate a candidate to be elected at the October election as a Member of the State Board of Equalization. It is a matter of much regret that some of the largest and most beautiful Park, have died in consequence of the filling in of earth around them. A few dollars expense and a little care would have preserved them from ruin. -Mass. Camp & Randall. The new manure spreader, which they have been manufacturing for some years, has been sold in the market. Their spinning and weaving departments run eighteen hours out of the twenty-four, two sets of hands being employed. Their employees now number about ninety. Burglars forced an entrance into Van Gordon's room, on Wednesday evening last. The safe, which had not been locked, was robbed of its money valuables - a few coppers. The house of Mr. P. Delaney, on Quincy Hill, was burglariously visited last Friday evening, but did not obtain enough to pay for the trouble of the visit. We regret to learn from the Sharon papers that Mr. F. H. Braggins, of the Mercer Dispatch, was one day last week thrown from a buggy, fracturing his skull, fracturing his arm and probably a fatal injury. Mr. B. resided in Warren about ten years ago, having learned the printing business with us at that time. We hope that his injuries may not prove so serious as reported. The woman who interviewed a family living in Warren, in connection with a few days since. The housewife, although inquisitive, was not communicative of statistical information. She, however, in "language not to be misused," implied that the confining assurance to the Marshall, that "if anything came of what he wrote," she would "break his skull." This is but one of the many kindred pleasing little episodes in the career of a newspaper editor, that show him in his daily pursuit of knowledge. A novel case of thievery happened in this place one night last week. One of our citizens, Geo. McLean, purchased 100 or more nice cabbage plants, and had them safely set out. Now cabbage plants are a scarce commodity in this market, and very difficult to obtain. Some curious, thieving fellow, cognizant of the general good luck, entered the garden, the first night after the plants had been set out. He stole every one. The thief got ahead of the right owner, but it would serve him right if he failed to get a head of the cabbage. Valuable Invention. Julius King, Jeweler, of this city, has invented a system by which spectacles can be fitted to suit persons of all ages, without trying glasses on, or guessing, as they are generally fitted to the eye. It consists of a series of letters, figures and characters, that are used to test the eye at a distance. It tells the strength of the eye, regardless of age. It is worth seeing and testing.

Court Proceedings.

In the case of Lucy Woodworth vs. Leroy Sanford, the Court found for plaintiff, and decreed her dower in the premises, and ordered defendant to pay her one hundred and twenty-five dollars per year during her natural life. James McCreary was granted a divorce from Isadore McCreary, on the ground of adultery. Asar Abell, Esq., for plaintiff. Sarah A. McKay was granted a divorce from Florence McKay, on the ground of habitual drunkenness for more than three years. The case of Samuel Constock vs. George W. and Cyril Wilson, tried to the Court on Wednesday, presented among other questions, that of the liability of accommodation endorser of a promissory note, who takes security from the maker at the time of the making of the note, but who is not served with the usual notice of demand and non-payment of the note at its maturity, necessary in ordinary cases to hold an endorser. The Court took the case under advisement. Mr. Humphrey, for plaintiff, and Judge Glidden for defendant. On Thursday the case of Lewis Lewis vs. William Davis, was tried to a jury. This was a civil suit for assault and battery, from Niles. The affair occurred at and near the saloon of the defendant, some months since, and as usual, his cause in whisky selling and drinking. There didn't seem to be much choice between the two, and so the jury found for the defendant. Porter, assisted by Judge Glidden, for plaintiff; Taylor and Conover, for defendant. The case of Maggie J. Klingsmith vs. Sylvanus W. Headley, was tried to the Court. This was a suit to recover damages for breach of the marriage contract, the plaintiff, a good looking girl of eighteen or nineteen summers, claiming that about a year since the defendant wooed and won her; that she got her wedding fixings, and made other preparation for the happy event, but the defendant failed to consummate the marriage, and she was left a spinster. The case was tried to a jury, and the jury found for the plaintiff, and awarded her $2,000. The case of John Walsh, on charge of assault and battery, with intent to commit rape, was tried to a jury. The prosecution was by Elizabeth Ann Phillips, a little girl about fourteen, who lives with her parents, which people near Coalburg, in Hubbard, testified in substance, that on the night of May 14th, while she was passing from her home to the house of a neighbor, a little way from 11 and 12 o'clock, she was stopped by the defendant, who was a man of about 30 years of age, and who jumped out from near a fence, and, saying, "Now I'll catch you," and grabbed her by the neck and shoulders, shaking her and dragging her across the road into the woods, where she was thrown down and where he attempted to commit rape. The defendant getting upon her - but saved from further abuse by the arrival of persons who had been alarmed by the little girl's screams, and ran to her assistance. The witness who testified that night, much to her regret, was unable to identify the defendant. The trial of the case was introduced by the State, in corroboration of the little girl's story. The defense, whose witnesses were all Irish people, relied mainly on the fact that the girl was swearing that the defendant was with an ale party at a saloon about one-third of a mile from the scene of the assault, from 10 p. m. until 12 p. m., and that he did not go out of the saloon, except for a moment or two, and that she was not with him at the time of the assault. The jury did not seem to see the girl, as a verdict of guilty was rendered Saturday, after a brief absence. A motion for a new trial is pending. The Prosecuting Attorney, Geo. Sanford, and the State; Taylor and Wilson for defendant. Ohio ex. Carr and Parker - another assault and battery case from Niles, was next tried. This, also, had its origin in liquor. Verdict, Monday, of not guilty. Porter and Ensign for State; Wilson for defendant. PROHIBITION. Editor CHRONICLE. - In view of the recent triumph of temperance, and the combined efforts of liquor sellers and their friends, in Youngstown, why do not the lovers of law and order, counsel, fully and earnestly ask our City Council to enact a like measure for our town and county, and to give it the force of law? Whether the people are ready for such a law? And it seems to me there is a sense in asking the favor now, whilst the Council have "lying on the table" a petition signed by nearly all our prominent citizens, and a vote of the people, by nearly all, or quite a thousand names, of those who have an indelible right to petition their Honors, as the law-making power of the town, for relief from grievances, either real or imaginary. That the recent petitioners ask is from an imaginary evil, can easily be seen by a look into our streets at almost any hour of the day or night, when you can see, too frequently, the strong man staggering, helpless as the child; and the woman, with her eyes staring, and her countenance and eyes carried by her neighbors, and the downcast look, and shabby clothes worn by the drunkard's family - trespassing directly to Intemperance. These facts, and a thousand others that suggest themselves to every thinking mind, prove conclusively that there is a reality in intemperance, and that a terrible evil follows certainly in the wake of the whisky traffic. Let our Council look these things squarely in the face, and grant the people the privilege of deciding this great question for themselves - of voting yes or no on a subject so intimately connected with their well-being and honor. Surely there can be no danger in a democratic government trusting the people, for whose best and greatest good these powers should be exclusively employed. This plan of allowing the voters to decide in such cases as this, and similar ones, lifts the responsibility entirely from the law-enforcing power and places it where it justly belongs - with the people. Let us, then, by all means, have an ordinance of prohibition, and let the people decide whether they will sanction it or not. Respectfully, J. S. FRIER, Farmington Center, June 10, 1870.
